What Are Ontario's Birds Telling Us?

Friday, November 6, 2009 at 7 p.m.

Wolf Performance Hall, London Central Library
An illustrated lecture by leading bird authority

Mike Cadman
Canadian Wildlife Service

Free Admission: Donations Encouraged

Mike Cadman, a Songbird Biologist with the Canadian Wildlife Service will speak about the health of Ontario's bird populations as indicated by the recently completed 2nd edition of the Breeding Bird Atlas. Mike will be presenting findings from the Atlas and new developments in avian conservation with a special emphasis on the role of habitat conservation by groups such as the Thames Talbot Land Trust. Join us for an entertaining illustrated presentation that will both inform and inspire.
